Themes:

Work should demonstrate the power of art, artists and artmaking to address, confront, challenge and indeed transform the impact of violence on individuals, families, communities and nations. In 2019 we are hoping to focus, particularly, on the role of artists as activists able to address such issues as bigotry, inequality and the abuse of power by the powerful. We are asking artists to “Step Up” to the challenges posed by violence. Exhibit themes will include addressing issues of immigration, social justice and the revival of progressive American activism.
